LINKED TOGETHER

Welcome to SHS

From the calm and quiet to the crazy and involved, hovering around 130 students, the class of 2022 is the biggest class this school has seen in a long time. First day of school for freshmen and new students alike, over 50 upperclassmen volunteered part of their summer to help welcome these new faces to an exciting (and scary!) part of their lives. These new students learned some tricks to surviving high school, how to get involved, and how to not get trapped in the hallways when the other 300 students arrive. The "newbies" toured the school as part of the process of entering this new phase of their lives. They also learned how each new friend you make is another person that you can depend on to help with countless situations that they may face during their time here at Seaside High School. Good luck 2022!

Fun times flood the halls during homecoming week at SHS, full of crazy dress up days, and assemblies never to be forgotten! the week started off with a new dress-up day: meme day, then continued with 50's or 70's, Greek (toga day), western, and ended with our spirit day. Along with the dress-up days before Hoco, the ASB planned multiple exciting assemblies including new events like musical chairs and a rodeo. The very intense game of musical chairs had everyone on their toes with Sophomores taking the win and Seniors dominating the rodeo. Also included was a performance from our very own SHS cheerleaders. Students and staff had a blast traveling in the past and creating good memories along the way in our 2018 Homecoming experience!

HOW TO AIRBAND

Principal Roberts. Katie Zagata (12). Luke Nelson (11). Alex Teubner (12).

From a giant television to a time traveling van, the classes act out their hearts to a photo finish. Coming out strong were the Freshman performing numerous skits and iconic songs. Bringing movies and television to life came the Sophomores changing the game one channel at a time. Taking airband however were the Juniors traveling back in time to the most iconic songs and scenes including those from Elvis Presley and the musical Grease, having fun getting home. Close behind them were the Seniors looking back at the how they grew to be Seniors and had a great light show to top it of. It was a great performance by all classes at Seaside High School. And for the first time in six years, the faculty and staff put on their own surprise performance. Going over old school songs of their time and new songs of our own era including principal Jeff Roberts dancing to "Kiki" by Drake, they wowed the student crowd. To finish the day, students and staff came together and danced the gym floor away for an afternoon to remember.

NIGHT UNDER LIGHTS

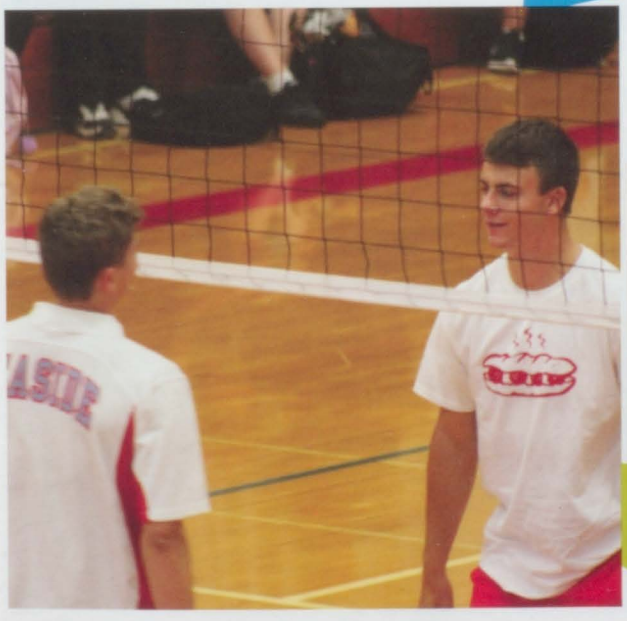

Andrea Castro (11). John Whittle (12). Gracie Klemp and Ila Bowles (9).

It is a new year with a new style of tradition as the annual Powder Puff football game tries some new scenery. With some interesting referees and irregular calls, the night under the lights was filled with smiles and laughter all around as coach Dylan Meyer gave a very familiar speech to his team as the Seniors and Freshmen won the game.

A SPICY MEATBALL

The Juniors take on the world and beat the school one class at a time. Making to the finals, they faced the two-time winning class of 2019. While everyone cheered for the Seniors to win, the Juniors fought through it to an extremely close finish as they won Meatball and to earn even more points for their class.

Winter week is a cool way to fight the winter blues. A few years ago, the ASB decided they wanted to do something fun for the students the week prior to winter break. During winter week students meet in the gym for daily assemblies that have competitions amongst the four classes, including the teachers at Seaside High School. It was a fun way to enter the week with joy.

Another fun thing the ASB planned out for students and staff during winter week at SHS is dress up week. There were multiple different days students had to dress up, Monday students dressed up in fuzzy socks and flannels. Tuesday was ugly sweater day. Wednesday was blue out, Thursday was character day,and Friday was the night before Christmas. In addition, treats were served every morning before school including, hot chocolate and cookies. Everyone appreciated the hard work ASB put in to make SHS a fun experience.

Q: What type of preparations go into making SnoBall?
A: I never realized how much goes into throwing a dance. You need a DJ, chaperones, design print and cute tickets. Every part of the dance has to be thought out.
Q: How does the Key Club use the money earned from SnoBall?
A: The money goes back to Key Club for some of our students to have help going to our Key Club District Convention. The majority of the money goes into service projects we do.
Q: What is the most stressful part about SnoBall?
A: Until the day of the dance everything feels scattered and not there. The whole thing is stressful.

Job Fair gives students many options for many different types of jobs that you can get or what to do after graduating high school. The students were handed a survey to fill out. Many thought the job fair was full of opportunities and that it was super helpful. Latino students took a trip to CCC and were introduced to their benefits. Both CCC and Job Fair provided to opportunities and ideas of what to do after high school.

TILLAMOOK HEAD

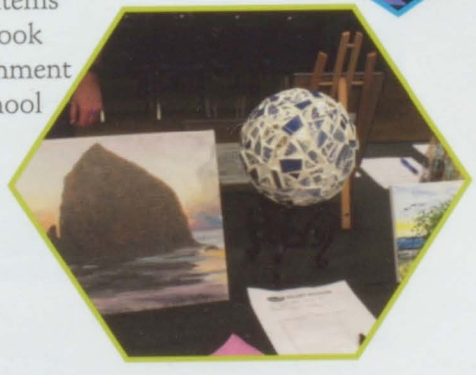

Skylar Russell(12), Mark Mizell (Legend), Desirae Williams (12).

The fifth annual Tillamook Head Gathering took place January 19th, 2019, at the Seaside Convention Center. Maggie Kitson and her band, Maggie and the Katz, provided music. Local artists and merchants donated items for a silent auction. The Tillamook Head Gathering supports enrichment in the arts for Seaside High School students.

Mark Mizell says, "The Dave [illegible] Bennent assembly was financed by the THG. Art Day too." Several singer- songwriters came to the Words and Music class and did workshops. THG funds covered that, as well as helped pay for a group to attend the Cowboy Poetry Gathering in Elko, Nevada. This years event will once again help with Art Day. Funds will help Susan Baertlein take students to Ashland for plays and workshops. It will also help buy guitars for Kimber Parker's acoustic guitar class. This year's event raised over $5,000.00. Put this on your calendar for next year. Way to go Tillamook Head Gathering....another successful year!

YOUR FUTURE...

Upward bound at Clatsop Community College serves 73 students from 9th-12th grade in cooperation with Astoria, Seaside and Warrenton school districts. The goal is to help students gain the knowledge and skills to succeed in high school and go onto college.

Upward bound is much more than a college access program. The students in this program will be prepared to not only enroll in a post secondary institution but will have the skills to thrive in their environment in pursuit of a college degree.

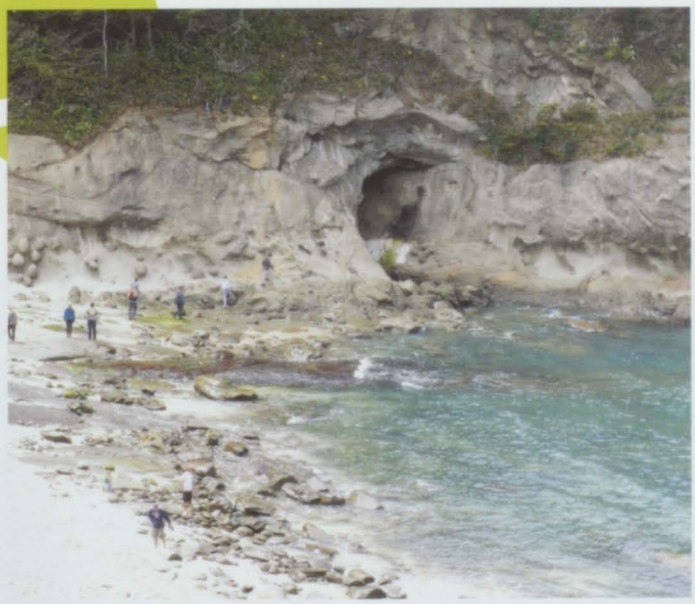

...STARTS HERE

Matt Bisek states, "The best part about this job is the relationship I builds with students. Seeing them win a scholarships, or getting a acceptance letter from their top choice school is wonderful." However, he appreciates the candid moments where they get off topic about something going on in their lives and having great conversations. He gets to spend almost 4 years getting to know the students he works with. He then claims, "Watching students develop over time and become their own person is truly special."

ON THE NEWS

Alexander Teubner (12).

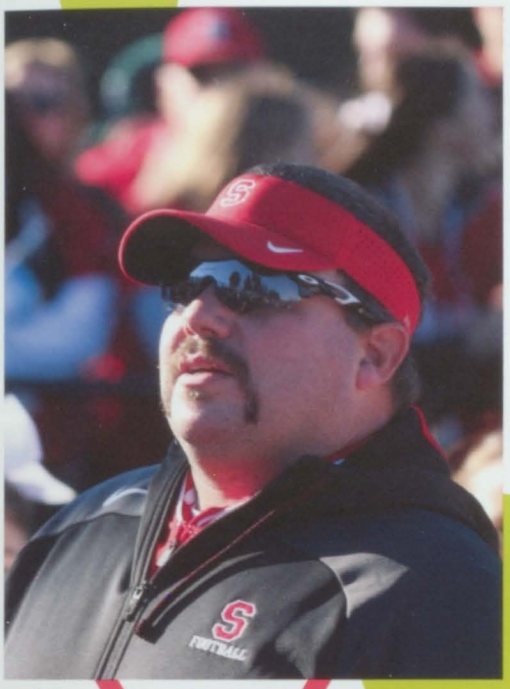

Pursuing victory over Valley Catholic in Beaverton, our Seaside Seagulls find their way into the news being seen across the state. Things were looking good for the first football state title in 24 years!

MAKING OF CHAMPIONS

38 Players, 1 Heartbeat

Brayden Johnson (11). Coach Jeff Roberts.

Outplaying and scoring every team they come across, your Seaside Seagulls take the state by storm. They scored an average of 48 points every game and showed their excellence with every play and block. "The success we've had this year has everything to do with the commitment of our players," says assistant coach Aaron Tanabe. "They've committed to doing things conductive to winning and holding their teammates accountable." With the hard hitting backs and the low hitting line, and the greatest bunch of coaches, they were aiming far beyond just being the league champs, but instead focused on a state title. The Gulls became the strongest scoring team in the 4A early on and continued their success to earn the number one seed in the state tournament. Throughout the tournament they continued to score, play as a unit on and off the field. Fighting and battling their way to the championship "singing glorious... victorious... they're lucky there aren't more of us! 'Cause when we hit we're as happy as can be, Cause we are the members of the Seagull Family!"

A WORD FROM THE WISE

Q: Why do you cheer?
A: Like dancing, cheer is something that makes me feel special about myself and is special in my heart. I cheer because of the thrill: the thrill of being on the field, the court, and the mat. I give it my all despite complications. I don't think I could ever put as much effort into another sport like I do for cheer. Although cheer takes so much out of me, I wouldn't change it for any other sport. (Miaya Ritterby, 12)

Q: What advice would you give to anyone scared to go out for cheer?
A: You never know what you are capable of until you try. The cheer team is very welcoming so you should not feel intimidated when trying out. (Joanna Luengas, 12)

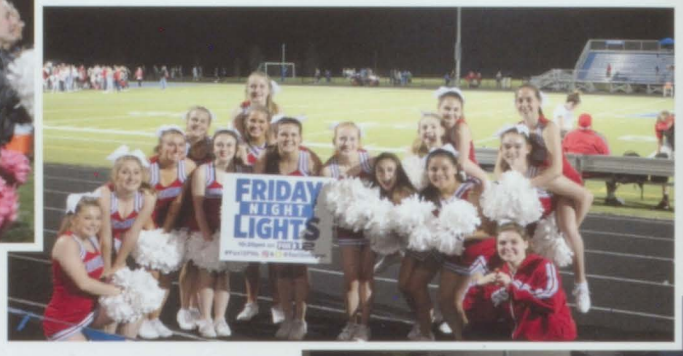

Q: What do you do to get in the game day mood?
A: I listen to my favorite songs while getting ready. Then, I review cheers in my head during the car ride over to the game. (Hayley Rollins, 12)

Q: What's the hardest thing to overcome in cheer?
A: The stereotypes are the hardest. People constantly tell me I'm not an athlete because I just jump around and dance, but I know that's not true. Cheer takes just as much if not more energy and commitment than other sports, and we all work hard and put everything we have into practices and performances. (Stella Samuelson, 12)

BEST IN THE WEST

THE PRIDE YOU GAIN

From broken bones to torn muscles, the boys soccer team faced numerous injuries throughout a season to be remembered. Facing new challenges every week, these young men needed to adapt to missing a different player almost every week. Pushing and fighting through the league, they finished out the season sitting in second place and landed a spot in the state tournament. Preparing for a shot at the state title, they first needed to get past Stayton High School, a team that early on in the pre-season refused to play and did not want to play such a team. Team goalie Mason Crawford said "I felt excited going into the state tournament. When I heard we were going to play against Stayton in the first round I was a little nervous, but never doubted my teammates." Letting them face their fears for good reason, the boys took out one of the top teams in the state in a major upset to travel on to have one last home game against North Marion. In a very close game, they fought their way through both rain and shine to come just short of a victory. Scoring as high as nine points in a single game, under the circumstances of numerous prolonged pains and injuries they had nothing to complain about as they ended the season.

"This year the team has became more aggressive. We have also became a lot closer by having team dinners before and after the games. The captains have helped with the new relationships with all the new people and the other teams."

IRVING PEON CONTRERAS

"After I leave this year I hope that the team continues to play their hearts out and get some championships. I hope the team stays strong and keeps crucifying."

PARKER CONRAD

she SAID

"We have a grown up together which helps us play as a team. We have many team dinners before games. The girls that show up want more than just to be a team they want a friendship."

Esmeralda Perez

she SAID

"This year was easy, it was not stressful. Everyone got along. We all were so hard working and by the end of the year we were a sisterhood, not just a team."

Taylor Carson

ATTITUDE IS EVERYTHING

Attitude, Academics, and Athletics are all very important pieces in any sport, school or work place but in this case it was not just a "sport" but a team. This year the team has had its ups and its downs, their wins and losses. However, stronger together is something this team knew. Even on the worst day, the worst practices, and the worst games, this team stayed together and pushed to be the very best they could be, being there for one other is what matters most. Junior Jennifer Ramirez said that "even if the team does not grow into a stronger team, the season will still have been fun no matter what. We are always learning, and trying out new things." Freshman Paris Johnson said that "with more practice and experience you can get better with more time." Paris also said that "we have a strong team and we will future. accomplish so much more with more time. Paris also said, "We have a strong team and we will accomplish so much more in the future."

ONE HILL OF A SPORT

Sam Henderson

Q: Favorite/best memory while doing the sport?
A: "I never had a moment that I would call my favorite, but if I had to choose one it would be the first time I ever competed in Ultimook."
Q: What is or was your biggest strength and weakness in Cross Country?
A: "My biggest two strengths were my resourcefulness during meets, and my stamina. My worst trait would be attentiveness. I just keep getting distracted by all the cool trees."
Q:Any advice you would give to new runners or anyone that would like to join Cross Country?
A: "The most important advice I could give is to not be scared of practice. To new runners especially, they will seem doubting, but you become used to running these trails and routes over and over again."

Ana Rojas

Q: Favorite/best memory while doing the sport?
A: "One of my best memories from Cross Country was from my last year, at districts. The team of girls all got together and we had a heart to heart with another. It was just one of those memories you cant compare to anything else."
Q: What is or was your biggest strength and weakness in Cross Country?
A: "I definitely had a lot of weaknesses. Mainly that I could never figure out how to pace myself. I think my biggest strength was dedication in everything I did."
Q: Any advice you would give to new runners or anyone that would like to join Cross Country?
A: "Everyone starts somewhere, as long as you give it your all, you will never fail. Don't compare yourself to others and don't miss out because you think you are not good enough."

Annually, Seaside Cross Country attends The Three Course Challenge, a state wide event started by our own Coach Neil Branson that is well-known for hosting thousands of people usually while the weather is being quite unpleasant. A total of 87 schools from all around the northwestern states attended and the event was yet again a huge success.

Queens of the Court!

Tristyn McFadden (10)

If the team could change one thing during this season it would be effort. Winning does not matter to them. it is the amount of effort, heart, and dedication, the team as a whole puts in. According to Captain Tori Tomlin, The biggest piece of advice would be to give the game your all and to leave everything on the floor. If you messed up shake it off girls. Focus on yourself and the ball. Motivate yourself to do better and your best!!!

At the beginning of the season the team started out strong and confident. Captain of the Varsity volleyball team Madison Jensen said mental toughness was the hardest thing about volleyball. The game is and was made by mistakes from both teams. Doing your job as a player and staying up is the most important skill you need as a Volleyball player. Do not settle for your ability now girls!!!

This was the start of a new chapter that will eventually turn into a scary roller coaster. Going into the season the girls were the underdogs, every game they went out hard and strong and played the best they can. During this season they got to prove to other teams and communities.

KISS THE RIM

A well done season by the lady gulls, though it was cut short by a loss to the Baker Bulldogs in the round to 16 the girls left with their heads held high. We are excited to see what talent is coming with the next years returning squad, but sad to see our beloved seniors leave. With out this years seniors the season would have been interesting. This up coming year will be made up of a very young Seaside girls team. At the end of the season the lady gulls had some all League Players as well as some honorable mentions: Ruby Dougles,11, Emy Kizer,12 were both honorable mentioned. Morgan Blogett,12, and Lilli Taylor,9, finished the season as all league.

BEST WISHES FOR YOUR HOODY NEW YEAR

Origins of the Holiday Classic Tournament stretch back to the 1970s when teams were looking to stay sharp and keep playing over the Holidays. Back then teams were only 4 players until the 1990s when the Seaside Booster Club made them 6-8 player teams. Seaside Boosters and Jerry Westerholm started the tournament and did a great job running it.

Coach Westerholm says the toughest team Seaside played would have to be Newport. Seaside beat Newport with a score of 66- 47. The goal for Seaside Boys this year was to beat all the teams, win the Holiday Classic and strive better than last year and boy did they do it!

WE SWISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Seaside is a great destination and the tournament is always well run. Coach Hawes says the team did fine this year, they won two games beating the Cottage Grove team and lost in the championships to Elma.

It is just a very fun tournament and brings a lot of people into town and there are a lot of good teams and basketball to watch. Teams return year after year because it is just so well done. The SHS Boosters give all the boys and girls this chance for a way to raise money and it is a great fundraiser.

Going For Gold

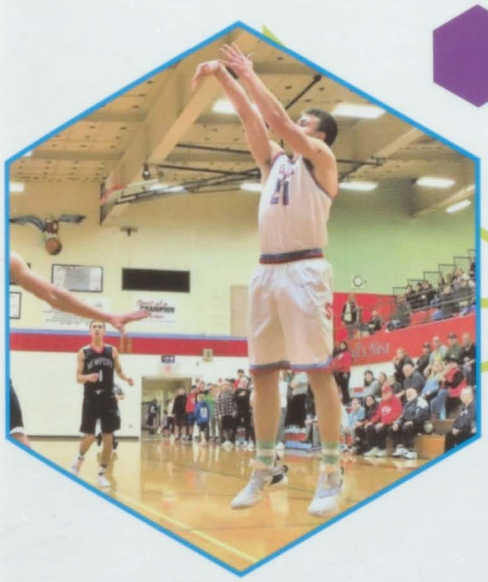

Standing tall and driving to the glass with every attack, the boys basketball team give us a show. Only losing once in league, our state champion team brought in a large crowd at every game. A winning reputation can lead to an ego, but these Gulls stayed cool under the heat of every game and stay undefeated at home no matter the opponent.

Making Oregon school history comes our Seaside Seagulls leading the way. We proudly were the first school to have made a State Championship appearance for four years in a row. While our beloved team fell to Banks in the final game, we are still so proud of the boy hard work and persistence.

CAN'T HIDE THE PRIDE!

"While devastating injuries and unforeseen challenges created a rough start to our season and prevented us from being able to compete this year, the Winter Cheer Team really pulled through and finished strong. We hit a number of new skills in stunting, some of which had never been accomplished before since cheer was reintroduced in 2009, and all of the athletes improved in motions, jumps, and dancing. We are excited for next year!"

~Coach Kimm Mount

This year, it is all about perseverance and hard work for our SHS cheerleaders. While cheering on football, all the way to state, then basketball, all the way to state, hard work was one of the main qualities each and everyone of the girls emphasized. Throughout both seasons they learned new skills, preformed lots of entertaining halftimes along with quarter dances for basketball, preformed dozens of amusing stunts, all in addition to cheer their hearts out for our school.

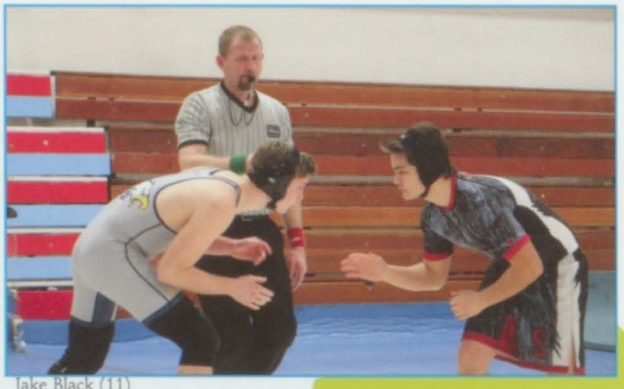

During winter season, the team experienced many challenges, which is common for any sports team. Despite these unforeseen difficulties, cheer still plowed through all of their worries, doubts, and everything else holding them back from reaching their full potential. The Seaside High School Cheer Team ended their season while doing what they love most, cheering on their school, and basketball team at the State Championships. Although the season didn't go how they hoped, the team was still able to enjoy their experience, and take the lessons learned into consideration to make their 2019-20 cheer season the best of all.

Wrestling is a team sport and a individual sport all rolled into one. Something important to remember is never back down and never quit even when feeling like it.

Gavin Meyer (12)

David Toyooka (11)

Senior Christopher Avery states that maintaining your weight in wrestling is probably one of the hardest things about the sport. One thing he wanted to say to future incoming wrestlers is to "never get discouraged, and that technique comes with time."

NO PAIN. NO GAIN

The pain of preparation is nothing compared to the pain of losing. So remember it does not matter what kind of wrestler, everyone is afraid of getting tired. Either get in shape and get stronger, or get out of the ring.

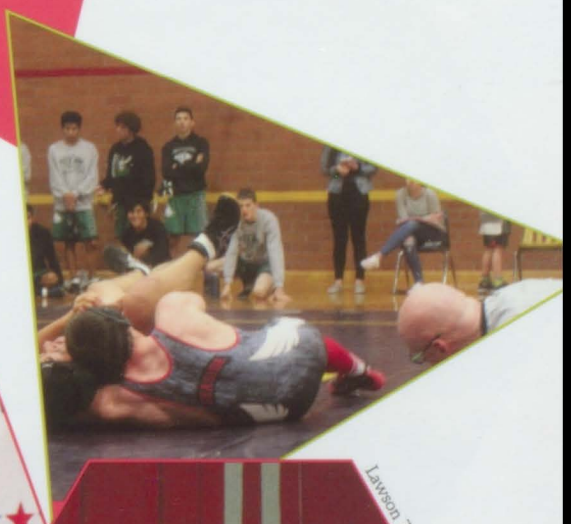

Seaside High School's Pacific Rim is a successful event that takes place every year. Taking first place in their weight classes for Pac Rim, Cesar Ramirez-Peon and Aiden Tice conquered every opponent they faced.

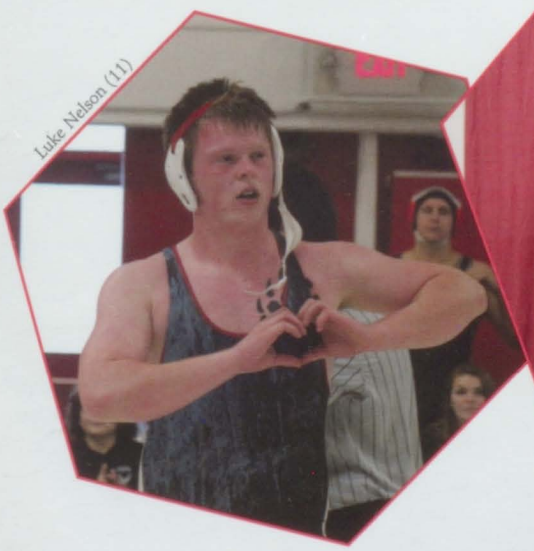

Taking fifth place for the 2019 Pacific Rim in their respective weight classes were Lawson Talamantez. and Luke Nelson. It was two exciting matches to watch that's for sure!

Last but not least taking 6th place for his weight class was senior Christopher Avery.

EAT. SLEEP. SWIM.

The 2018-19 swim season featured one the biggest teams in recent memory, with 34 swimmers competing. Students from Seaside and Warrenton combine up for swimming and with this year's team featuring 20 underclassmen the future is looking bright.

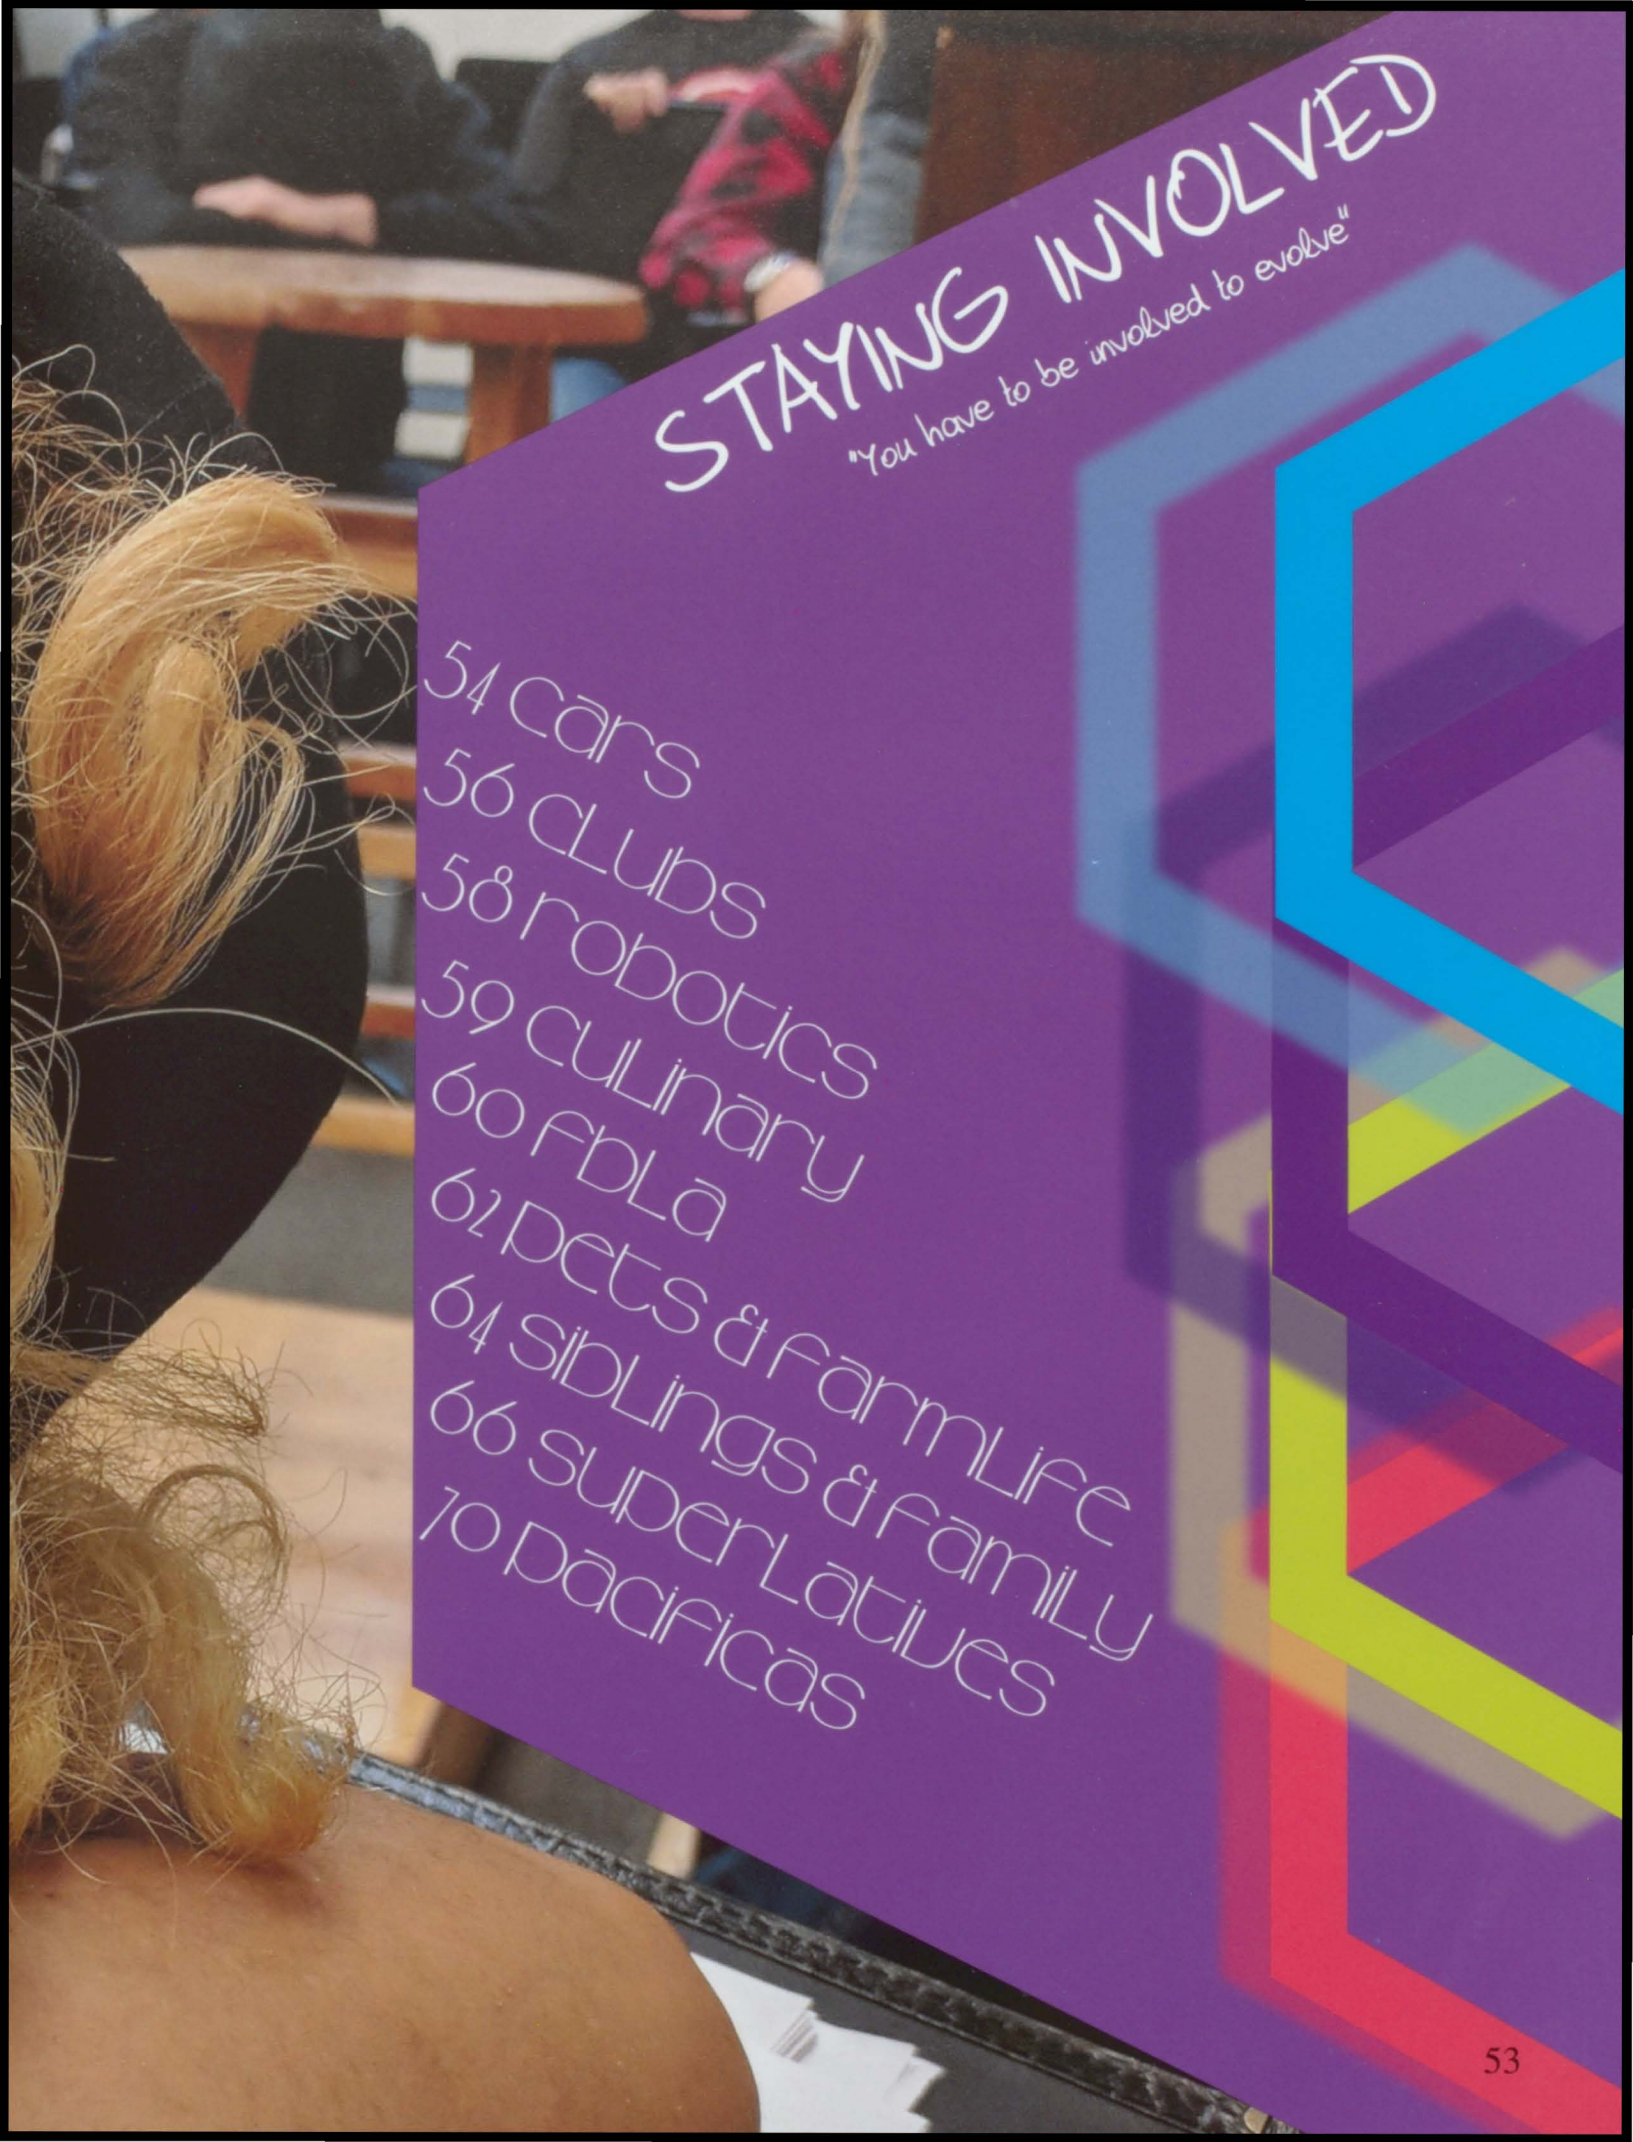

Seaside hosted three home meets this year wrapping up with senior night on January 24 versus Tillamook. Mixed in with the home meets, the team made a debut trip to Valley Catholic, Winter vacation competition trips to Taft and Newport and finished up with the district championships back at Newport.

Highlights of the year included all league honors earned by Sean Olea, Henry Garvin, and Kendy Lin. The district championships ended up with the team having competitors in finals or consolations of nearly every event, a recent first. With an increased number of swimmers, and a strong focus on all strokes, the team was able to field a full flight of competitors for just about every event in the last half of the season.

The season wrapped up with a trip to the state championship meet in Beaverton. Kendy Lin qualified individually in the 100 backstroke. The girls 200 Freestyle relay of Kendy Lin, Kaisa Liljenwall, Anna Huddleston and Nicole Blankenhorn also qualified.

This year's captains were Kendy Lin and Chris Quashnick. The nine seniors will be missed, but there is much to look forward to in the upcoming season.

It all started thanks to the Schisers foundation, who are dedicated to making changes for the best. A lot of schools and their students do a lot through CommuniCare to benefit their towns.

At the end of May, the Seaside HighSchool CommuniCare will be accepting a $15,000 donation to distribute all through out Clatsop Community.

BUILDING OUR FUTURE!

The Cyborg Seagulls are starting the school year making both a new robot and memories building and coding this year's project. They are given certain limitations to build their robots and then they compete at state and nationals to earn awards and even scholarships. Not just anyone can do what these students accomplish.

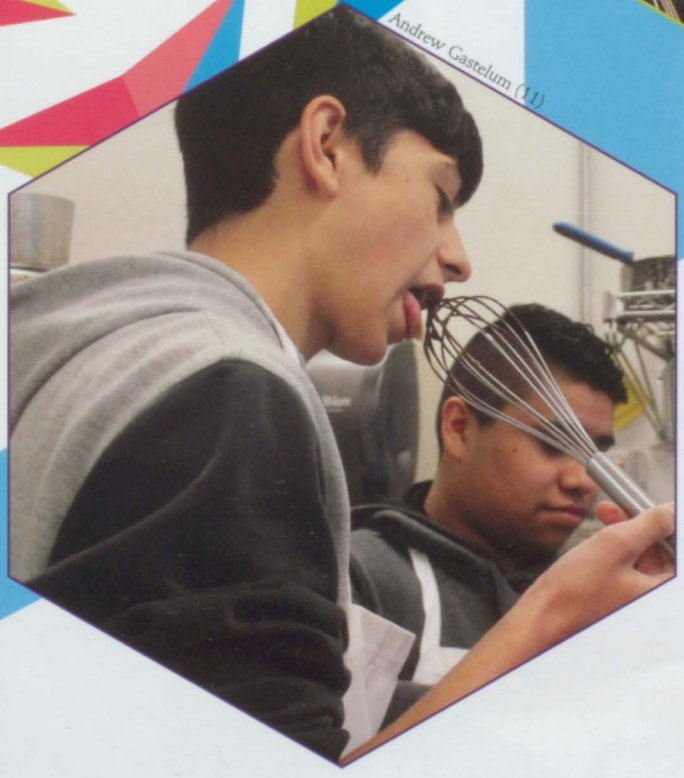

COOKING FROM THE HEART

From the basic of it all to a competitive team, the Culinary Program is one to look for. Mrs. Chelsea Archibald, the former head pastry chef at the Stephanie Inn, switched her focus and accedpted the position as the new full-time Culinary Arts Teacher. A weclome addition to SHS, her students cooked at many events for the school and even in the community. Practicing skills like teamwork, responsibility, and respect, they did more.

Key Club

Seaside Key Clubbers

Key Club is a student led organization that puts together service projects like coming up with fundraisers to plan events, and doing volunteer work for the community. The main goals of these Key Clubbers are to provide service, build character, and develop leadership.

Service in Paradise

In the Spring, several members from our Seaside Key Club traveled to Seattle for the 70th Annual Dcon. This is a three day district convention that brings together Key clubs from all along the Pacific North West as well as key clubs from Canada and Alaska. During this event, "key clubbers" listened to guest speakers, and went to a few fun workshops and events like the Governor's Ball. Students said this "unforgettable experience of a lifetime" convention turned strangers into life long friends.

MAKING IT UP

SHS offers a range of different science classes with lots of fun experiments and hands-on activities. Students will learn techniques like how to problem solve and work with others as well as understand how the world around them works.

Douglas Mitchell:

Q: If you could redo your first years of teaching what would you have done differently and what did you learn?

A: "As a teacher, I am always changing my classes slightly the next time I teach it, but having something to start from is great. It lets me keep the things that worked well and modify things that didn't work so well. So, becoming more organized is something I wish I would have done a lot sooner than I actually did."

Matthew Johnson:

Q: What makes a "good day at school?

A: "When I see students being kind, being helpful, and respecting their right to learn. Just having a couple of students saying thank you at the end of class puts a smile on my face."

Q: If you had to hire one person to do your job for you who would it be and why?

A: "If I was to hire someone to do my job it would be Morgan Freeman, because who wouldn't love to hear him talk about anything!"

Vinh Pham:

Q: What did you think of science when you were in school?

A: "I loved science in high school as it allowed me to understand how the world worked. Being able to apply that knowledge in real-world situations gave me a sense of mastery and accomplishment."

Q: How do you define success?

A: "Success for me is when a student is able to find purpose and happiness in their life post high school. This means that success will look very different across students."

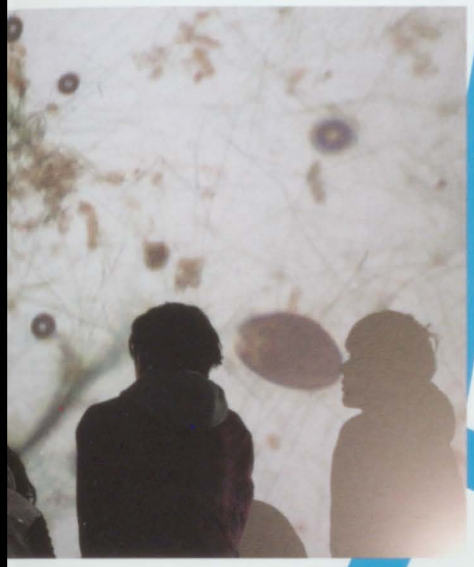

Suzanna Kruger:

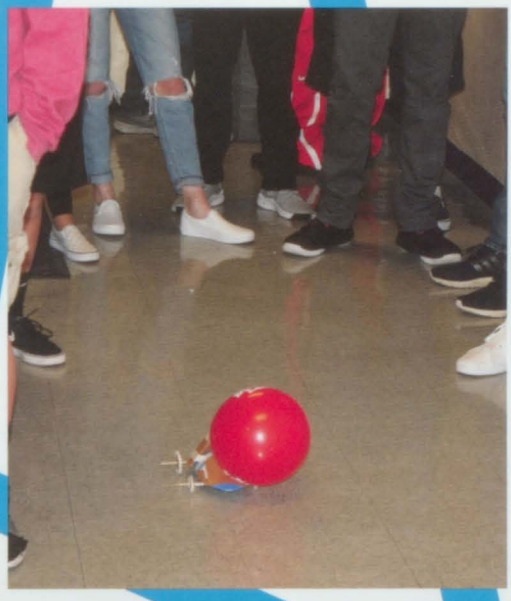

Q: The school has some high academic achievers but there are also students at low levels. How can you teach these different levels in one class and reach your goal?

A: "That feels like an interview question! Everyone is different, everyone approaches and retains the material in different ways, so I try to provide many different paths to the same concepts: a lab, a model, a reading assignment, discussion, a diagram....."

Q: How do you think your students will remember you and your class?

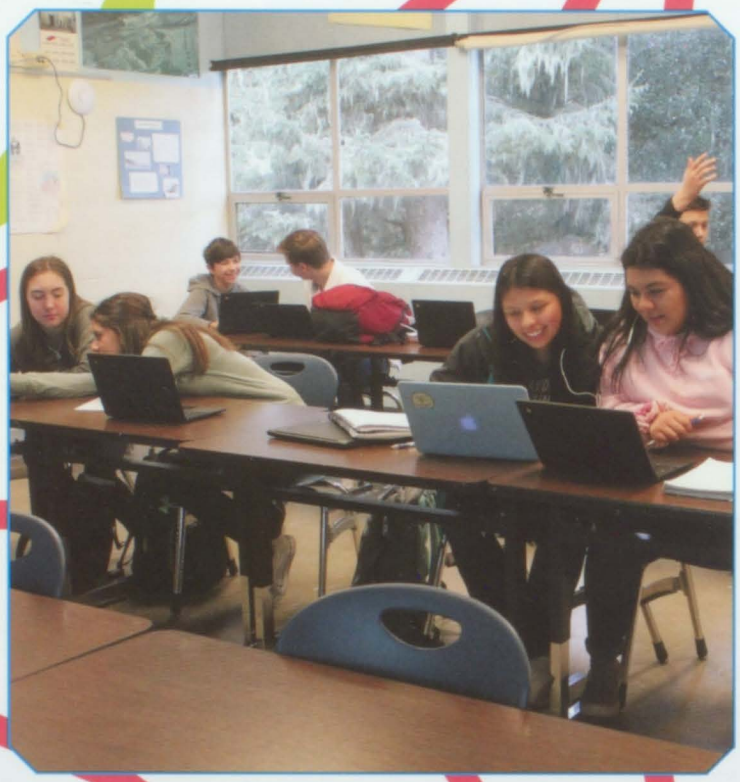

A: "I know a few certain individuals from the Class of 2017 remember a field trip where some students were horribly stung by a nest of yellow jackets. One of my former students said to me, 'Ms. Kruger, you and Mr. Johnson, you just teach what you love and love what you teach, there's no difference, it's just all one.' To me this was a huge compliment; this kid gets me. Mostly what I hope they remember is: treat yourself, your body, other people and the earth with kindness, because all of that is a gift. We are lucky to be alive."

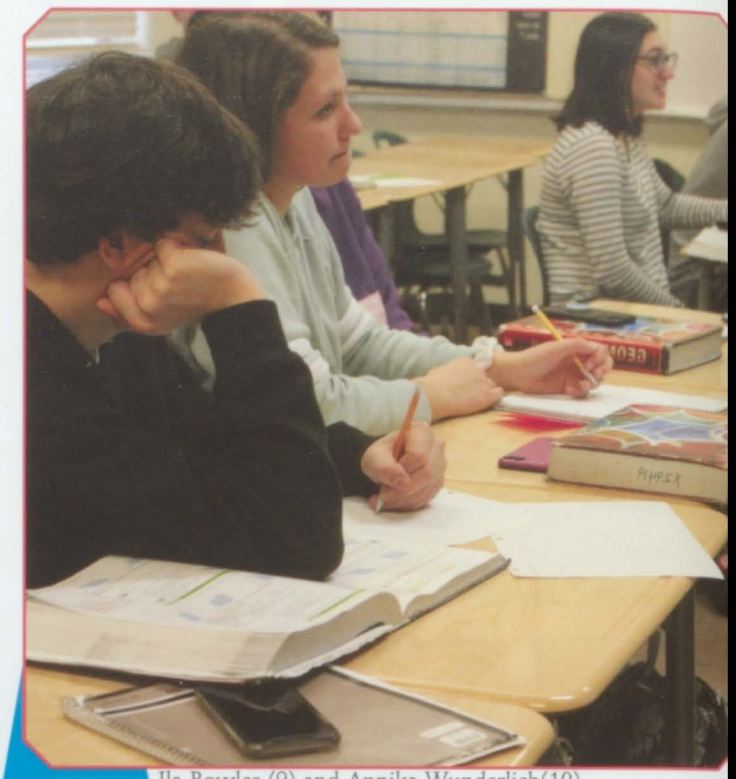

Ila Bowles (9) and Annika Wunderlich(10)

MATH IS FUN-CTIONAL!

Trent Rollins

Q: What is your favorite thing about your math classes?

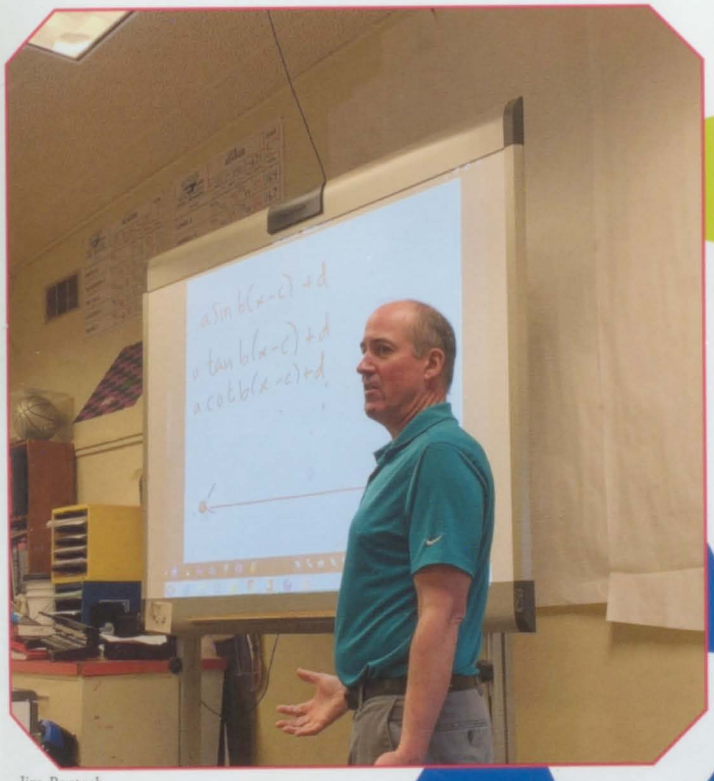

A: "We work out our problems."

Mitch Ward

Q: What is the most common or creative excuse a student has ever used to get out of an assignment?

A: "I left my homework at home, but I really did it Mr. Ward."

Jim Poetsch

Jim Poetsch

Q: You always tell us about students crying after they don't understand something in your class. How do you handle that?

A: "With mixed emotion. Frustration is an essential part of the learning process so, I am excited that they are learning. However, if they are crying over a math problem they might have other negative things going on in their life, or they are taking math too seriously."

Ms. Baertlein Talks.....

Q: What is your favorite quote?
A: "My first favorite quote is 'Delete the adjectives and you'll have the facts.' - Atticus Finch, To Kill a Mockingbird. My second favorite is 'It is our choices, Harry, that show who we truly are, far more than our abilities." - Albus Dumbledore, Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

Q: What is your most embarrassing moment as a teacher?
A: "At some point, you stop feeling embarrassed if it happens enough. :) I did call a student the wrong name for an entire year... his friends finally corrected me the last week of school. He never told me I was pronouncing it incorrectly."

Q: What would be your dream destination for the summer holidays?
A: "Europe; Specifically London!"

Q: How do you think your students will remember you by?
A: "I hope it is because they learned something, or at least that they remember that I cared about them."

Here at SHS, we give the opportunity for our students to learn how to keep their body in a health shape and how to eat better than they did before coming into the classroom. A healthy meal plan an excessive exercise is the key.

Not only does SHS cover opportunities for what to do to get a healthy body, but it gives us more information on what to put in our body and what to avoid.

Health class gives students an opportunity to learn new things, and provide special qualities for life in the future.

SHS offers different art classes and students are able to express there creativity. With all the different types of electives there is something for everyone and they are able to develop new skills.

TREBLE MAKERS

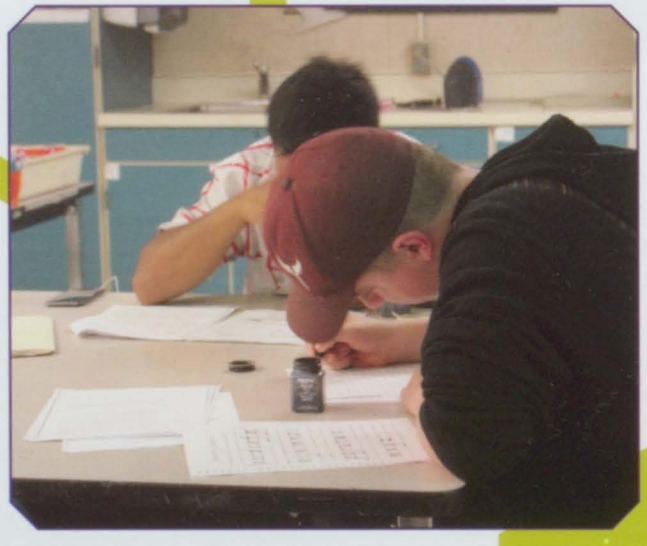

"Every day we create music and strive to be better," says Ms. Kimber Parker, choir teacher. It was a pretty amazing year for the Seaside High School Choir program. So many student were interested in choir that the Chamber Choir "basically doubled in size" and a new choral group was formed called Singers Ensemble. The Acapella Choir renamed themselves: Sound Waves. 16 dedicated students meet at 7:10 every morning to sing contemporary pop songs together. The group did a lot of caroling around town in December and the Chamber Choir caroled around the school on the last day before winter break. Choir students fundraised for new robes with Holly Snook and Taylor Carson's Pacifica Project. "We danced and sang to pop songs through the decades. We bought 75 new robes to replace the ones that were 25 years old!" said Ms. Parker. Sound Waves competed at the Astoria Jazz Festival and received an excellent rating. 4 students competed in solo and ensemble and Seth Trevino was chosen to compete at the state level. Additionally the choir competed at district and league and qualified for the state competition at both levels. Great job Choir! What a year!

Physical education is probably one of the most important courses in high school. "It is the only subject that will make your heart race." Under the guidance of Coaches Januik and Clouse, students learn skills that they will carry with them throughout their lives. Not only are young men and women given an opportunity to increase their fitness, they are learning valuable things like collaboration and teamwork. "Physical education makes every child stronger and every life longer." With additional offerings like Fitness for Life and Non-Traditional Sports, this is one subject that everyone can agree on....it's FUN!!!!

LEARNING SKILLS

From learning how to design websites and be an entrepreneur to understanding how to build anything made out of wood, many classes are what we call Career Technical Education. Here at Seaside High School students were given opportunities to learn how to make products and sell them, what it feels like to make a project and say, "I made that when I was in high school" and how to work for the city in real life. The world outside of school is full of countless careers and jobs that can make your head spin. But with these courses, we can get out there and show the world what we can do.

SHAPING THE BOOK

Term 1 Staff. September 5th, 2018

In yearbook, we focus on the fun, the work, and obviously the book. Throughout the year, the book is worked on page by page by our staff. Each term, the staff changes a bit, adding more amazing people to our class and family. Yearbook is a year-round class, and from the first week of school to the last, the yearbook staff is always working. We start our book in the very beginning of the school year, pages are assigned and we get to work as soon as possible. We then are required to meet deadlines throughout the year, which always seem to sneak up on us. The book is due in the beginning of April so the factory can print the books, and we can hand them out on the last day of school. The seniors get their books at their all night grad party. In the last couple days of school, it is mandatory that the Annex in the back of the book is finished, printed, assembled, stapled, and placed. We all stay up till 3 am to get the book done on the day of graduation. As you can see, a lot goes into making the yearbook, and each and everyone of us appreciate making memories last forever at SHS. "A yearbook is a love letter a school writes to itself." As you can tell from this year's book, we love you Seaside High School!

We are so incredibly proud of you You have made being your parents easy (most of the time LOL) We love you very much and can't wait to see how you change the world. Love you to the moon and back forever. Mom and Dad..

'Never before, since the beginning of time, has there ever been anybody exactly like you; and never again throughout all the ages to come will there ever be anybody exactly like you again.' _ Dale Carnige

Stella Samuelson

From the moment you were born, i knew you would be a star. Follow your dreams and go far. We are so proud of you Stella.

Simon Miller

May the best of your be the worst of your tomorrows.
May the road less paved be the road that you follow
Here's to the hearts that you're gonna break
Here's to the lives that you're gonna change
Here's to the infinite possible ways to love you
I want you to have it all.

Makena Anderson

From the very beginning you were always smiling and witty. As you grew, so did your personality and heart. You are a smart and determined young woman about to step out and follow your dreams.

We want you to know how very much you are loved, and how extremely proud we are of the woman you have become. You can accomplish anything you desire!

We love you very much!
Mom, Terann, Grandma Char, Grandma Sandra, and Grandpa Ron

MATTHEW CARPENTER

Mom is smiling down on you, full of pride. Your gentle spirit and determination will bring you far in life and help you succeed in all things you do. I can't believe my kind, smart, and goofy son will be graduating. Enjoy this time and look forward, as the best is yet to come. ~ Love, Dad

The Shakespeare Festival is a great way to explore more of Shakespeare's life . It was a fun way to learn how they do the fast changes of clothes in between the scenes and how they change the background on stage. "Hairspray" was an amazing show and it was so cool to see it live. "As You Like It" was an interesting show and it was nice to see Shakespeare work live in action!

Seabreeze Volume 113 was produced by the yearbook staff at Seaside High School in Seaside, Oregon and was printed by Herff Jones in Kansas City, Kansas. The account was serviced by representative Carly Langdon and customer service agent Lesli Hawkes. The cover was designed by Wesley Corliss and incorporate blue and red hexagons that tied together the theme of Connected. It was printed on a lithograph cover with a suede lamination. UV gloss was used to accentuate the hexagon shapes and the theme Connected was debossed. The endsheets, designed by Kiara Breckenridge, were printed on Vibra Color stock with 4 color processing. All 176 pages were printed on 100 lb matte paper. All body copy was set in 10pt AHJ Schnittger and headline font was AHJ Cartogothic Bold. Layouts were submitted to the plant through eDesign on Windows 7 computers. Professional portraits were provided by Lifetouch.
